Foreword

THE FUTURE HOLDS PROMISE

As we members of the class of 1964 look to the promise of the future, we pause for a moment to reflect upon the memories of the past. We think about our teachers and counselors who have enriched our lives during these past three years; those who have given us insight into life; those who have educated our hearts as well as our minds. We thank them for the promise of the future and for the courage to make this promise a reality.

In our reflections, still another aspect of the past three years comes to mind. It is that of our school life, the everyday occurrences as well as the highlights. As we recall the subtle beauty of our Junior-Senior Prom and the night when the curtain went up for our Senior Play, we are proud and filled with joy. We thank our school for the happiness of the past.

Now the time has come for us to leave the school which holds so many memories for us. As we walk down the corridors for the last time, we pause to hear the echoing footsteps of our classmates. We look at the rooms, the bare and empty rooms which were once filled with students eager for knowledge, and which will be filled once again next September. We thank our school, Glens Falls Senior High, for the promise of a good future through the rich experiences of the past.

Glens Falls High

Near the Adirondack foothills,
Where roars the Hudson grand;
Where battlefields lie buried,
'Neath advancement's spreading hand;
There's a place we'll ever cherish,
And exalt unto the sky,
May her honor never waver,
Our dear old Glens Falls High!

All our hopes and expectations,
All we shall ever claim,
Be our names still in the background,
Or viewed in halls of fame;
Our success and all our fortunes,
We know not the reason why,
But we feel we'll ever owe them,
To dear old Glens Falls High!

May the friendships ne'er be broken,
We've made while working here,
Tho' the problems be forgotten,
Which to us are made so clear,
And when we are old and weary,
Looking backward with a sigh,
We still shall love most dearly,
Our grand old Glens Falls High.

Senior Class History

There we were, uncertain and nervous, sitting in the auditorium, hearing Mr. Brown's welcome. Our Sophomore year had begun. As the first weeks passed swiftly by, we became more and more at home in our spacious, new surroundings. Almost at once, we found ourselves worrying over the decorations for our Sophomore dance, our first class activity. Dancing among the kings and pawns of "Camelot," we were pleased with this first presentation of our class spirit. But mid-year came too soon, and before we knew it, basketball games, the Spinster Swing, and classes were over for another year. As we guided the incoming Sophomores around the school during Freshman orientation, we realized how much we had learned in such a short year — and how much more we were to learn in the next two years.

We tackled our Junior year with a valiant class spirit. Cheering wildly at football games (even in the snow), toiling over tons of homework, rehearsing for Drama Night, scouring the library for term paper research, we lived and learned every day. Our Class rings — how proud we were as we displayed them to the envious Sophomores! With trembling knees we watched the approach of the Regents Scholarship exam, College Boards, the National Merits, and breathed a sigh of relief as they passed. However, we discovered that our hectic days were not over, as we frantically made preparations for the Junior-Senior Prom. We finally decided on the theme, "Moonlight and Roses." For days we worked on decorations: a mirror-covered moon, hundreds of hand-made roses (ah! we will long remember how to make crepe paper roses!) and blue and white streamers. In seemed incredible that the evening could go so quickly. On Monday morning would we be back at the old grind? Shortly thereafter we were asked what colleges we were considering and what courses we were taking next year. We could hardly believe that our Junior year was almost over, but we looked forward to our Senior year in high school.

A bit regretfully, we were Seniors. Was it really true? Our predecessors had said that the Senior year was the busiest and best. After our Junior year we were a little skeptical, but we soon found how true that statement was. In September we welcomed two foreign students to our class — Stella Dantas from Brazil and Lottie Götesdam from Sweden. We will long remember their friendly faces and true class spirit.

It was indeed a busy year for all of us. Senior pictures . . . yearbook sales . . . graduation announcements . . . caps and gowns . . . Student Council Christmas Dance . . . band and orchestra concerts . . . the Spinster Swing . . . the RED AND BLACK . . . all passed in quick succession. As March and April drew near, we anxiously checked the mail for college acceptances and contemplated future plans. Who would receive Regents Scholarships? It seemed unbelievable that our Senior year could go so fast. Finals loomed ahead, and with them graduation. Those last few days rushed by with Class Day, pageant rehearsals, exams, and yearbook autographing. Then came Sunday and, together for the last time, we marched down the aisle two by two. Our three years together were actually over. Not one of us will ever forget the Spirit of the Class of '64.

Junior-Senior Prom

"Moonlight and Roses"

The highlight of the evening is the crowning of the new queen, Deborah Drew, by last year's queen, Glenna Sweet.

There is a feeling of serene contentment in the air as these couples waltz through the evening.

Behind a wall of streamers, Mr. Van Der Voort directs the Grand March which will climax in the crowning of the queen.

Couples enjoy a tasty bite at the cafeteria intermission party.

Debbie and Marv and other members of the court greet the chaperones.

What would we ever do without ladders . . .

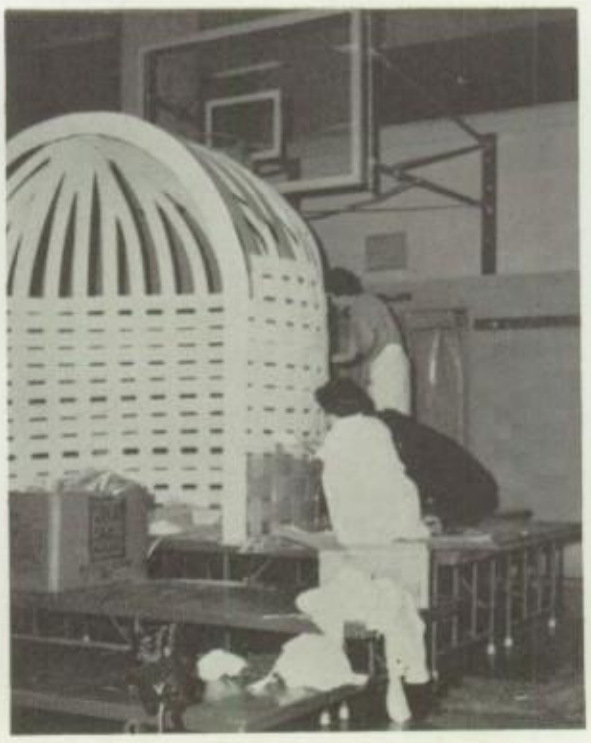
Many hands never will make light work of 1500 roses.

You couldn't reach it from the floor, Hartley?

About this length, Bruce.



The royal throne at 4:30.

Seniors: always reach high in life.

Spinster Swing

This year's Spinster Swing, following the theme of "Swinging on a Star," attracted almost 1,000 people from area schools. Sponsored by the Georgia Adams Girls' Hi-Y, the dance featured music by Mr. Gericke and The Preludes.

"Swinging on a Star"

For some, weary feet cry out for a pause between dance sets.

Comedy Night

"Some day my name will be in lights" . . . "I can see it now" . . . "I want to play the rabbit" . . . "I want to be the witch" . . . and all their dreams came true! Comedy Night was a success: Actors made it on stage in time, only three trays tipped over, Betsy drove the right taxi, and Miss Shelton won a rose! The bill read something like this: Sophomore Dramatics Club presents: A Day in the Life of Nelson Holiday, Jr. Junior-Senior Dramatics Club offers two playlets: Four Little Words and The Bad Children. As if a triple smash was not enough, the program abounded in added entertainment from specialty acts. Satisfaction was guaranteed and a promise was kept!

The Senior Play

"It will be sent up to you on a tray. I am using the dining room for my guests."

"Hmm. How long has this been going on?"

"It's called: 'What am I to Do?' "

"I saw this holly, framed green against the pine trees."

"This is the last straw. I have just received a bill from the telephone company for $784."

"To be fed only whale blubber, eels, and cracked lobster."

"The Man Who Came to Dinner"

"Oh, darling, look at that poor sweet tortured face. Let me kiss it!"

"We've been sitting over in Billy's Tavern all night. Never realized it was daylight until it was daylight."

"Good evening, everybody. Cream of Mush brings you Sheridan Whiteside."

"Thank you very much, officer. Here's a little something for your trouble."

"Dust thou art and dust to dust."

These are the cast members of The Senior Play who made each performance such a success.

Mark Griffin, Sam Friedman, and Jim Monroe take a well-deserved rest from their lighting management.

Isn't Whiteside's beard authentic?

Mr. Countryman, along with Pete Butler, Harold Bain, and John Barrett pause to look at the set which they designed.

Northern Conference Track and Field Champions

Coach Brown's 1963 Track and Field Team, undefeated in dual meet competition, copped the Northern Conference Crown. The Indians really showed their prowess in the Hudson Falls dual meet by defeating the previous Conference Champs, 84 to 52. In the Northern Conference Meet, our team finished a close second to Hudson Falls with 44½ points to their 52 points. In the New York State Meet, Jim Barber became the first Glens Falls sprinter to break 2 minutes in the half-mile.

That final surge of energy — Phil St. Clair sprints to the finish of the 220 with not an opponent in sight.

John Weber soars over the low hurdles to add 3 points to our score in the Hudson Falls Meet.

Phil St. Clair doesn't seem to mind taking time out from his blistering pace in the 220 to pose for a picture.

Jim Barber, our only representative in the New York State Meet, relaxes after still another 660.

Up and over . . . Tom Rauscher has everyone eyeing the bar as he vaults another height.

Cross Country

This year's Cross Country Team showed great individual improvement for each boy, although Coach Muse's team posted no team victories in the score books. With time as their only competitor, Jim Barber and Tom Rauscher set a new school record in the two-man ten-mile relay. The "first-year" men showed great potential for next year's team.

Section II and Northern Conference Golf Champions

The 1963 Golf Team continued to pile up honors for Glens Falls High School as our team tied with St. Mary's for the Northern Conference Championship with 4 wins and 1 loss. For the second year in a row, Glens Falls copped the Section II Golf Championship. Our victory was achieved over a field of 24 schools as we carded a score of 315, 4 strokes better than our nearest competitor. The team scored victories over Warrensburg (5-0), Granville (5-0), and South High (5-0), before suffering a 3-2 loss to St. Mary's which broke an undefeated string of 38 matches. However, the Indians recovered with a 5-0 victory over Queensbury. Ed Waldron, with a score of 75, became the Tri-County Schoolboy Champ for the third time in four years.

Through the American Field Service, designed for the purpose of improving international relations, I came to Glens Falls. The students and teachers of Glens Falls High School have made my stay here an unforgettable experience. I had not only a chance to know part of this country, but also to share the American spirit and warm hospitality.

— Stella

Stella and her American sister, Sue Van Trump.

Lottie and her American brother, Tom Wiswall.

I consider myself very fortunate to have been an International Christian Youth Exchange student in Glens Falls. It is impossible to say in a few lines how I enjoyed this past year, and what it has given me; but I thank you all, both teachers and students, for treating me so well. I know that exchange students coming after me will have a wonderful and eventful year, just as I did here in Glens Falls Senior High School.

— Lottie

Clubs

Outing Club

Blazing trails . . . fighting the winds . . . attempting to camp in the rain . . . decorating the Christmas tree in our cafeteria; whatever the task, the Outing Club goes to it with appropriate gusto. And if at first the elements seem too powerful, they try and try again to have their activities and the weather work together. In the fall, a hike was cancelled due to the heavy fire danger in the woods, and then the October rains demanded galoshes for the Prospect Mountain hike. By January nothing could stop the club, and the boys took their gear and went to Camp Wakpominee where the snow kept their fire down to a mere impractical smoke. The snow remained, surprisingly enough, for the February winter slide at the Country Club. Rounding out their activities, the club moved inside for programs including a movie on a New Mexico Indian Pow-wow, a presentation by Miss Lois Blanchard on her trip to Egypt, and a discussion on the conservation of fish in Lake George. The year concluded with the annual tackling of Mt. Marcy and its usual afteraffects — three days of aching backs and bruises! Outing Club met the challenge and enthusiastically anticipates another year.

We draw a deep breath now that our Junior year has passed. Upon our arrival last September we had a feeling of diffidence familiar to Sophomores. As the year progressed this feeling faded when we were swept into new activities, prom preparations, college boards and general curriculum participation.

At all Indian games we supported our Varsity Cheerleaders: Julie Chadwick, Margery McArthur, and Rachelle Tessier. Our J.V.'s were Nancy Keene, Shelley Russell, and Denise Westfall. During the football season, we cheered for our Varsity Gridiron stars: David Alden, Milton Bemis, David Deeb, Robert Deeb, Richard DeGolyer, Jon Hadley, Raymond Ives, Jeffrey Kingsley, Matthew Marino, William O'Connor, Daniel Parsons, William Rhodes, and James Van Tassell. The J.V. Football Juniors included: Alex Bellos, Bob Carlton, Greg Cutler, Joseph Dudley, Larry Feigenbaum, Russell Hamilton, Edward Kohn, and Donald Silverman.

Later, in the Basketball season, we helped Peter Barber, Raymond Ives, Matthew Marino, George McGowan, and John Moynihan to gain Varsity victories; and Joseph Dudley, Edward Kohn, Daniel Parsons, and William Rhodes to win with the J.V. squad. Stephen Johnson, Michael Mastrianni, Richard Parker, Stephen Rowan, Robert Shearer, and Donald Trombley were the objects of our admiration on our very successful swim team this year.

The day our distinctive, new oval-style class rings arrived was one of self-satisfaction. However, the most exciting moment of our Junior year was the night of the Junior-Senior Prom. On March 25, the Junior Members of the National Honor Society were tapped. They were: Linda Bartholomew, Phyllis Beazley, Carolyn Cymbalak, Richard Frost, Sally Newcomb and Rachelle Tessier.

With our most important high school year behind us, we again draw a deep breath. Our thanks go to our Class Advisers, Miss Smith and Mr. Rozell.

Sophomore Class History

In September we entered Senior High, an exuberant Sophomore Class and the largest ever at Glens Falls High School. The first few weeks sped by. Time dismissed our bewilderment of new surroundings, made us feel at home and a part of the routine of school life.

As the year unfolded, we displayed the strength of our qualities as well as our quantity. In sports, we Sophomores were well represented: In Varsity Basketball by Ryan Howard; Wrestling — Bill Gardner, Dan Rauscher, and Dave Brown; Track and Field — Ken Collyer, Tony Kokoletsos, Jim McMurray, John McMurray, Dan Rauscher, Roger Webster, and Bruce Wright; Swimming — Charlie Batt, Rick Kenney, Joe Culver, Ken Gericke, Paul Gray, John Evans, and Bob Parker; Cross Country — Don Brouillette, Joe Culver, John McMurray, Jim McMurray, Craig MacDonald, Bob O'Rourke, Don Polunci, and Roger Webster. Many Sophomores were active in J.V. sports especially Football. Roger Webster, Chip Barlow, Dick Bolster, and Bill Coviello participated in J.V. Basketball, while Terry Whalen and Gary Thompson participated in J.V. Baseball. Vickie Clark, Ginny Eastward, Debbie Kingsley, and Candy Westfall lent their enthusiastic voices to the J.V. Cheerleading Squad. On Comedy Night we captured the evening with A Day in the Life of Nelson Holiday, Jr. In fact, a great many of us took part in extra-curricular activities.

Our achievements — in scholarship, experience, and growth — have been considerable. They have given us a host of warm memories, a sense of accomplishment about the past, and an unfaltering confidence in the future.

Graduation must be considered one of the high spots in every young person's life. But while commencement ends your high school career, it, in fact, only opens the door for bigger and better things to come.

According to Webster, commencement means, not the ending, but rather the beginning. We at the Glens Falls sincerely hope that you will use this occasion to commence toward those bigger and better things.

Congratulations for a job well done, and may each of your futures be worthwhile and meaningful.

QUALITY . . . 2. That which makes, or helps to make, anything such as it is; anything belonging to a subject, or predicable of it; distinguishing property, characteristic, or attribute; peculiar power, capacity, or virtue; distinctive trait; as, the tones of a flute differ from those of a violin in quality; the great quality of a statesman. . . .

— WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

It's not always easy---

or justified to buy the best quality money can buy . . .

But ---

when sentiment is involved and lasting quality is desired,

You should

Try to obtain the finest quality in materials and workmanship. This applies to once-in-a-lifetime things like your first prom formals — your class ring — your yearbook and . . . later on . . . your wedding pictures. We can't help you in all of these happy moments, but we can, in one instance, if you . . .

Have your Yearbook printed
